

WHITEHALL GROUP, L.L.C.

QSB – Quality Systems Basics Training and Support Services

Whitehall Group provides specific services to support the understanding, evaluation, implementation or remediation of robust manufacturing quality systems and processes

- Whitehall's services are capable of supporting quality system implementation, ranging from development and implementation within new or greenfield facilities through existing manufacturing operations
- Whitehall provides a comprehensive assessment of an organizations capability to manage all elements within the supply chain; from product inception through ongoing production
- A proactive approach for introducing new product launches centered around the principles of Advance Product Quality Planning and robust launch management
- Training focused on automotive-based Quality System Basic requirements
- Workshops to create awareness and understanding of fundamental quality processes, such as:
 - Error Proofing
 - Control of Non-Conforming Product
 - Layered Process Audits
- Whitehall Group can provide the leadership and / or facilitation to support implementation of tools and processes
- Practical training and hands-on application of basic problem solving techniques and management practices
- Where independent or third party support is required to isolate customers from suspect product, Whitehall will coordinate and manage all aspects for containment, rework, and inspection
- When necessary or deemed appropriate, Whitehall's experienced quality professionals can provide interim quality management